Our Mission Was To Build, A Small Community Network, Of Like Minds

Eco-Community Shelter® has succeeded in constructing underground structures strategically located in rural Alaska, our goal is to be able to accommodate around 500 community members including children.

The Eco-Community Shelter® is strategically located away from potential ground-zero blast areas, at high altitudes, and in the best surroundings of nature and resources. While proximity is important, survivability is more important.

The criteria that has been included is viability, elevation, land contour, accessibility, privacy, security, area resources, scale, and cost. The Eco-Community Shelter® is self-sufficient, with large underground water storage tanks, incineration sewage systems, and cubic storage for a massive amount of food and supplies and the appropriate security measures.

Eco-Community Shelter® is a privately funded construction project, with no religious affiliations, committed to building affordable underground shelters that would accommodate survivors. Eco-Community Shelter® can provide a shared solution for those that wish to be prepared to survive potential events, whether they occur today or in the future.

Eco-Community Shelter® Commitment:

- Prevention: Committed to helping their members be aware of and plan for future events by protecting themselves from manmade or natural disasters and acts of terrorism.
- Protection: Committed to shelter against manmade or natural disasters and acts of terrorism.
- Mitigation: Committed to reducing loss of life and property by lessening the impact of a disaster.
- Response: Committed to saving lives and meeting basic human needs after an incident has occurred.

Eco-Community Shelter® Is Stocked With A Minimum of One Year of Supplies

Preparing the Eco-Community Shelter® for its members to survive for a minimum period of one year, requires tremendous effort and planning. Eco-Community Association Management Board has outfitted the shelter with all of the food, materials, supplies, furnishings, fixtures and equipment needed for long-term survival of each group member. Every consideration is made for the overall safety, security and comfort of each community member of Eco-Community.

The community shelter is stocked with an abundant supply of freeze-dried foods, meats, grains, and a garden of fresh growing vegetables, selected for ongoing taste, variety, nutrition, energy, and ease of preparation. Members will enjoy well-balanced meals every day for breakfast, lunch and dinner on a daily basis. Food variety will provide a very satisfying and abundant diet.

Every community member has access to a personal bed, linens, hygienic toiletries, vitamins, and over-the-counter medical supplies.

The community shelter has been outfitted with deep underground water storage tanks for a continuous supply of fresh water, wind power and solar power generators, all working together to provide a steady source of electricity for a minimum of one year. Medical equipment, security devices, survival gear, books, educational and entertainment materials, gym equipment, tools, spare parts, radio, media, movies, games, non-hybrid seeds, farming tools and more.

Everything needed is provided, prepared, ready and waiting for potential habitation and lockdown to ride out whatever the events may be on the outside.

The truth is, we don't know what, when or where a catastrophe will happen; but whether we want to believe it, or not, it likely will. It is only a matter of time.

We cannot deny that we are on the cusp of an increase in number and magnitude of events that may, in the twinkling of an eye, change the world as we know it. When it does, few will have a solution for the survival of their families. Millions will perish or worse yet, struggle to survive as victims.

Various governments around the world, have been building bunkers for decades, massive deep underground shelters built for thousands of government elite, but not for the rest of us.

Eco-Community Shelter® is not about any specific date of any event, but rather providing a long-term community survival solution for future events occurring now or in the future.

Eco-Community Shelter® Application

It is better to have a secured survival plan and not need it, than to need a secured survival plan and not have it.

Scientists understand that the earth has had a number of catastrophic events that repeat on a somewhat random but predictable cycle. Catastrophe can happen at any time, without notice, today, tomorrow, this year, or even decades from now. It's not a question of if, but when, and being prepared when it does.

Many current events, both natural and political are pointing to potential disastrous changes for life as we know it. The process may already be unfolding. The list of risks and threats is long and becoming more apparent in the daily news and events all around us.

Eco-Community Shelter® is a form of assurance for, if and when, these events happen. We cannot predict precisely, but we can prepare, either way Eco-Community Shelter® is here to provide a real solution for those that wish to be prepared.

Remember, it wasn't raining when Noah built the Ark!

Constructed Community Shelter

Eco-Community Shelter® has designed each of its domiciles to provide as much comfort as reasonably possible, with an average population density of 1 person per 100 square feet of floor area. FEMA recommends just 50 square feet per person for long-term sheltering.

The design and overall scale of the facility allows for optimum ‘personal space’, with plenty of private areas for members to retreat to. While at this stage no one can predict how the community will evolve, everyone is well aware that their survival depends on cooperation, compassion and mutual effort.

First the facility is engineered to withstand the most likely catastrophic forces of both nature and mankind. Second the interiors are designed with cheerful color schemes, comfortable furnishings and community gathering areas. Third each family group has private domicile suites for personal and private family time.

Included within the newly built shelter is a network of living quarters for each family group. These domiciles vary in size, and configuration to complete the fully furnished living quarters. Each domicile includes; kitchenette, dining area, living area, bathroom, bedroom (for larger family groups), small storage area, and laundry facility.

Eco-Community Shelter® Application

It is better to have a secured survival plan and not need it, than to need a secured survival plan and not have it.

The community gathering areas include; community lounges and meeting areas, community media area, study area with small library of educational and entertainment materials, exercise area with equipment, community public bathrooms, an urgent care medical, dental and eye center, security office and confinement area, full size community café and dining area, pet kennel living quarters, communications center, community laundry facility, tailor shop, virtual nature park, and aquaponic garden stocked with plenty of fish, along with mechanical and support equipment to fully power and operate the facility for a minimum of 1 year of survival.

Americans with Disabilities Act

To accommodate disabled members, all areas within the Shelter are designed for wheelchair and handicap accessibility, including doorways, hallways, bathrooms and access to the café areas, medical facilities, exercise, and more. Eco-Community Shelter® is built in compliance with all local, state or federal regulations for handicap access, as well as the Americans with Disabilities Act.

Eco-Community Shelter® is managed by the respective Shelter Association Management Board. The Board elects a Shelter Coordinator to oversee day to day operations with an Emergency Response and Operational Team for ongoing maintenance, service, security and surveillance. The Association Bylaws and Emergency Response Plan governs predictable condition and procedures, before and during a shelter lockdown.

Eco-Community Shelter® has truly provided everything needed for safety, security, comfort and well-being of each of the members that inhabit the community shelter.

The Secret

The location of Eco-Community Shelter® is extremely secure and confidential, and known ONLY to Shelter Association Management Board and appointed Coordinators. However, while the Management Board does not promote the exact location of the shelter, it does anticipate local awareness and crowd control. The Shelter is equipped with high fencing and a security team that is ready, willing and very able to defend the facility. It will be virtually impossible for anyone to infiltrate the shelter facility. Unfortunately, a backyard home shelter does not include these security measures that are absolutely necessary for the ongoing integrity and success of any survival plan.

Tours

Due to security reasons, Eco-Community Shelter® cannot provide tours to the public or prospective buyers of the Community Shelter. Actual members are provided the opportunity to have a video walk-through inspection of the Shelter and Domicile, prior to the close of escrow within the 21-day grace period.

This inspection is done under confidentiality and with strict controls.

Thereafter, annually community members are invited for weekend retreats to meet fellow members and train for the operation of the shelter. This group meeting allows members to get to know each other, as well as plan for their respective duties and responsibilities for any potential use of the Eco-Community Shelter®.

Transportation

Eco-Community Shelter® does not provide transportation to the shelter. Many will travel to the shelter by their own means in advance of a threat or at the first signs, well before the general population realizes they need to evacuate.

Eco-Community Shelter® Application

It is better to have a secured survival plan and not need it, than to need a secured survival plan and not have it.

To assist members who arrive at their predetermined meeting place, Eco-Community Association has made arrangements with a number of people living in the area who will meet, pick up and escort members to the disaster shelter.

If needed an armored vehicle will be available to transport some members from pre-established locations near the shelter. This vehicle will have better ability to navigate and pass through potential non-member crowds that may gather.

(It is advisable not to bring non-members with you, and demand they be allowed into the shelter).

Members need only arrive before the shelter is locked down.

What Am I Paying For?

Amenities

The Eco-Community is a self-contained facility network of domiciles designed to comfortably accommodate a community of members with approximately 100 square feet of (effective) space per member, in spacious quarters. The shelter is stocked for one year of survival to ride out the potential events of virtually any catastrophe that may befall, with every detail considered and planned for.

The facility includes complete and fully furnished living quarters, with semi-private bedrooms, bathroom, kitchenette and dining area, spacious community lounges and meeting areas, media theater, exercise equipment room, stocked educational and entertainment materials, an urgent medical and dental care center, security facilities with confinement area, armory vault for weapons and munitions, a HAM communications center, laundry facility, tailor shop, and abundant storage areas for food, water, medicine, and supplies.

The Eco-Community Shelter® provides everything needed for the comfort, safety, health and security of its members for survival and habitation, safe from the risks being experienced by the outside world.

Although the Shelter Association Management Board has prepared and stocked supplies for a minimum of one year total lockdown, that time frame may be extended due to deadly surface atmosphere conditions, e.g. biological, chemical or radiation contamination, the actual lockdown period may be significantly extended by a number of years.

When the shelter is not in lockdown mode, community members may be able to move about on the surface farming and gathering supplies to help minimize the actual use of the shelter's stock. With a wise use of community supplies, the one year habitation can be extended much longer. Food is based on a diet of 2,500 calories per person per day. The elderly and extremely young do not eat 2,500 calories per day thereby providing more supply for others. With the addition of personal supplies each member has brought with them and the continued supply provided by the aquaponic garden and small stock of farm animals, many years of extended food supply can be realized.

Food

Eco-Community Shelter® is stocked with an abundant supply of delicious freeze-dried foods, canned meats and grains for one year of survival. Each person is provided 3 meals a day, with total caloric intake of up to 2,500 calories. This includes all freeze-dried food supplies packaged to last 25 years before any loss of nutritional value. After a number of non-emergency years, the food supplies will be completely replenished.

Virtually any meal or recipe can be created from these ingredients, for a variety of foods that taste and look as fresh as homemade meals, including baked breads and pastries. The menus are designed to provide a nutritious balance for breakfast, lunch and dinner entrees with easy preparation. Meals can be individualized or prepared family style to suit each of the community resident's dietary needs.

Eco-Community Shelter® Application

It is better to have a secured survival plan and not need it, than to need a secured survival plan and not have it.

Eco-Community Shelter® has also incorporate an automated, energy efficient, high output, aquaponics growing system that will yield a variety of fresh organically grown fruits and vegetables including root vegetables, grains, micro-greens and even fodder for the small collection of farm animals that will be housed in the shelter. This system will operate indefinitely extending the possible term of shelter occupancy beyond a year, while providing a nutritious and abundant supply of menu choices.

Food storage requires about 18 sq. feet of area per person/per year. The community shelter maximizes the cubic storage capacity to assure this space as well as the additional requirements for pets and farm animals.

(So please do not bring unapproved friends, family and neighbors, we can only account for space and food of members approved for the shelter, unapproved persons will be directed to the nearest FEMA shelter)

Water

The community facility has incorporated several water tanks with the storage capacity of 15000 gallons and capable of supplying a minimum of 20 gallons of water per minute. Stored in pressurized tanks for distribution throughout the facility, water has been filtered through extensive ionization and filtration systems to remove all toxins, bacteria, chemicals and contamination, on demand water is pumped into the domiciles. There is also an atmospheric water generator that cycles 140 gallons of water per day installed, which recycles and restores lost water back into the facility for the aquaponic gardens. There is ample water supply and storage for the predicted consumption by the inhabitants of the shelter.

Pure Air System

Eco-Community facility incorporates extensive nuclear, biological and chemical (NBC) air filtration systems that pre-filter all air before it enters the shelter. This system includes HEPA filters to remove all physical particles down to the .03-micron level, an activated carbon filtration system to remove radiation particles, a TEDA carbon system to remove chemical agents, and an ultraviolet system to further kill biological agents. Additionally, all intake valves are automatically controlled to seal the entire facility during any actual contamination event.

There are a number of air shafts that provide air to the facility. The shaft openings are hardened and designed to prohibit intrusion or blockage by any outside force, with a number of security measures. However, should for any reason outside air not be available, or unable to be filtered and circulated, then a closed air system is activated that re-circulates all air within the facility.

All air vents and openings leading into the shelter also incorporate water proof gates and hatches that seal the shelter from submersion for the typical duration of a tsunami wave that may wash over the surface. While this is considered unlikely due to the strategic locations of the shelter, it is a concern that has been planned for.

The surface defenses would make it extremely difficult for any intruder, or force to approach and tamper with the air shafts. Keep in mind that if the shelter is sealed due to outside contamination, or an environment that makes surface life unsupportable, then community members would not be free to roam on the surface for some time.

Removing Waste

Each domicile bathroom as well as all community restrooms are designed with an incinolet toilet were all human and pet waste are incinerated to a small amount of ash, all gray water is pumped into the recycling room where the water is recycled through the atmospheric generator and reused. Dry waste from packaging is compressed and incinerated within the incineration disposal systems. Keep in mind the community members should practice the "reduce and reuse" policy to lessen the amount of waste volume as supplies are consumed.

Power Source

Eco-Community Shelter[®] is outfitted with a state of the art power generation system and an abundant fuel supply to operate all equipment on a 24/7 basis for up to one year paired with wind power generators, A typical 100-member shelter will consume 1 megawatt of power over a 24-hour period. However, most systems are only operated over a 12-hour daily power consumption period, due to community down time requiring an average of 82kW's per hour.

Eco-Community Shelter® Application

It is better to have a secured survival plan and not need it, than to need a secured survival plan and not have it.

Eco-Community Shelter® employs pairs of very reliable diesel generators, operating far below their respective peak capacity. The redundancy in the power generation equipment, as well as replacement parts for potential repairs, assure an ongoing failsafe operation.

Fuel is stored in deep underground storage tanks and pumped into the shelter facility through explosion proof and flexible shock resistant piping. All devices meet UL and EPA requirements. Fuel storage provides for operation of the power systems throughout the peak consumption periods, while also utilizing wind power generators to charge the large battery banks that then separately power the 12 and 24 volt fixtures and equipment that run throughout the night and as backup systems. This setup allows for a continuous power supply, without fulltime operation of the generators.

Additional forms of passive energy are incorporated when possible including: solar and wind power systems. Where possible, all electrical devices supplied for the domiciles are energy efficient and low wattage assuring the least amount of power consumption.

Communications

The Community Shelter includes a number of redundant antennas, amplifiers and ham radio equipment to transmit and receive radio communications to the world and to other communities.

Spare parts and tools are included to repair equipment. Handheld 2 way radios are also included for communications within the facility and security purposes on the outside.

Qualified operators will be selected to manage the radio communications center 24 hours a day.

Medical

Eco-Community Shelter® has a medical, dental and eye center with a range of triage and basic capabilities. This area is well-stocked with general medical supplies and equipment. Members will send a supply of their prescription medications as available for storage within their personal domicile. Due to the shelf life of many medications, these supplies will need to be periodically replaced by each member, while expired medications are then returned to them to be destroyed.

Actual medical services will be provided by those members that are already medical professionals. Roughly 20% of member applications are from individuals within the medical field, including: doctors, surgeons, nurses, psychiatrists, psychologists, dentists, lab technicians, and emergency medical technicians (EMTs).

Once under lockdown, all community members will provide their individual expert services to all other members for mutual support and survival.

To insure communicable diseases are not spread throughout the facility, as each community member arrives at the predetermined location, they will be screened by a medical team member for potential exposure of any infections from known viruses or pathogens.

Persons suspected of contamination will be quarantined until it is determined that they are safe to mix with the general population within the community. However, there is no guarantee that one or more infected persons may gain access to the shelter and risk exposure to the other members of infection. The medical team will do everything they can with the supplies and technology they have available to try to prohibit and/or limit any possible exposure and/or cross-contamination.

Eco-Community Shelter® Application

It is better to have a secured survival plan and not need it, than to need a secured survival plan and not have it.

Security & Defense

During a time of emergency each member of the community shelter is allowed access only after passing a number of security checks that identify each person as an official paid member

(So please do not bring unapproved friends, family and neighbors, we can only account for space and food of members approved for the shelter, unapproved persons will be directed to the nearest FEMA shelter).

Based on the current profiles of community members, some members have extensive military, law enforcement and security experience. These members will perform the actual security and defensive duties for the shelter, both before and after lockdown.

The facility includes a confinement area should any member become a threat to the others. The security team within the facility will be capable of handling any situation that arises.

High security armory gun vaults are installed for storage of all weapons within the facility. Weapons should be surrendered to be placed in the armory vault (for the safety of all members) and may only be removed and used for training and or defensive measures against outside intruders or threats.

The entire community shelter incorporates a number of defense devices and measures starting at the perimeter fencing and continuing to the blast doors. There are many levels of security that will need to be breached before an intruder would even get close to the blast proof entry door.

We are not at liberty to discuss the ongoing security measures but can say that a number of pre-event and lockdown systems are in place to mitigate any threat or aggressor that may attempt to compromise the facility. The combination of automatic defenses, trained security personnel and trained community members will assure control of both chaotic crowds and armed intruders. These security measures and defenses are in place to assure community members will have access, while others will not.

The primary defense will be the community members themselves, starting with secrecy of the location of their shelter (the shelter association cannot account for every Joe, Dick and Sally that shows up suddenly with all their kids and a handful of cash, as money will have no value to us at that time). Second a significant ratio of trained military, security and law enforcement professionals within the group, it would be virtually impossible for any individual, or group to penetrate the security forces. Eco-Community Shelter® fully respects all legal gun rights. Members are encouraged to bring their own legal weapons for the mutual defense of their community.

The Eco-Community Shelter® site is selected for the ability to defend and secure the facility. This includes the secrecy of the location, natural barriers to public line of sight and access, terrain, elevation, ground cover and camouflage.

All hatches, vents, materials and devices that are exposed to the surface are ballistic hardened to resist forced entry from armed, biological, chemical or flammable assaults.

Armed and Trained People Will Be with You in the Shelter

Along with several members in the community, the security measures, forces and devices that the facility incorporates ensures the defensible safety of yourself and your loved ones.

Eco-Community Shelter® Application

It is better to have a secured survival plan and not need it, than to need a secured survival plan and not have it.

Basic Supplies

Eco-Community Shelter® outfits the shelter with all of the supplies, furnishings, fixtures and equipment needed for long-term underground survival. Every consideration has been made for the overall comfort and survival of the community members.

The facility is stocked for up to one year of survival for the inhabitants. Our research shows this is the most practical time period for 99% of the envisioned catastrophic threats. Obviously, there are scenarios that could require a longer duration. However; longer event periods would require more food storage, fuel and supplies at a proportional increase in cost and storage space, which is why we have installed a self-growing garden and small farm. We are trying to make Eco-Community Shelter® as affordable as possible to the general public, without adding more food storage at a significant expense.

The shelter is stocked with an abundant supply of delicious freeze-dried and other shelf-stable foods, for one year of autonomous survival for the number of specific community members. While Eco-Community Shelter® has prepared and stocked supplies for a minimum of one year of shelter habitation under total lockdown, that may be required due to deadly surface atmosphere conditions, e.g. biological, chemical or radiation contamination, the actual survival period may be significantly extended by a number of factors.

There is no “maximum” time a person may stay in the shelter. This period may be extended depending on the circumstances of the catastrophe, e.g. outside air, ability to grow food on the surface, temperatures, supplemental fuel/power sources, etc.

When the shelter is not in lockdown mode, Community Members will be able to work on the surface farming and gathering supplies to help minimize the actual use of the shelter’s stock. With a wise use of shelter supplies, the one-year habitation can be extended much longer. Food is based on a diet of 2,500 calories per person/day. The elderly and extremely young do not eat 2,500 calories/day thereby providing more supply for others. With rationing of a lower number of calories per day, and the continued supply provided by an aquaponics/hydroponic garden, many months of extended food supply can be realized.

As supplies run low, Community Members may continue to live at the shelter facility, utilizing it as a home base as they may be required to re-establish a new society on the surface.

Eco-Community Shelter® will also store a large supply of materials and equipment for use both during any shelter habitation, and for what may be expected after returning to the surface. The members are provided a one year supply of food, water, bedding, toiletries, medicine, medical support, security devices, survival gear, a library of books, educational and entertainment materials, exercise & gym equipment, tools, spare parts, radios, media, fuel, non-hybrid seeds, farming tools. Everything is provided, ready and waiting.

Eco-Community Shelter® Application

It is better to have a secured survival plan and not need it, than to need a secured survival plan and not have it.

Personal Comforts Uniquely You

It is customary for some community families to want to stock their shelter domicile with a few of their own comfort items, such as food supplies they enjoy, toys or stuffed animals for their children, a few clothing items, their own lotions, soaps etc. this cuts down the need to transport items in an emergency situation, so that your shelter domicile may be in full readiness and operational mode pending the need to use it.

Although not listed here, we have a number of people who live in the vicinity that have some real talent and skills that have been quite supportive of our efforts. Should the need arise we will give an address were extra items can be shipped or dropped off so that the community coordinators may stock your domicile where it will be stored and waiting for your arrival upon emergency activation.

Due to the wide range of sizes that are required for community members, and the fact that virtually all members prefer to bring their own clothing that meets both their comfort and style, the community shelter does not provide clothing to its members. A small laundry facility will be located in each domicile, and one community laundry facility will be located in the shelter, assuring all clothing and linens will remain fresh and clean. A sewing machine and supplies are located in the tailor shop for repairs and tailoring of clothing as may be needed once under a lockdown situation.

Eco-Community Shelter® Application

It is better to have a secured survival plan and not need it, than to need a secured survival plan and not have it.

Pets Are Subject to Our Pet Policy

Shelter Association Management Board understands and respects the emotional benefits and companionship a pet can bring to the lives of its owners and others that encounter it. In the situations of trauma and illness pets are known to bring comfort and even assist in the healing process of most people. The bond between a pet owner and their pet is usually very deep and a special love that cannot be replaced. With this understanding, Eco-Community is a pet friendly facility.

Community Members may bring an ordinary household pet (cat, dog or bird) with them to the shelter and have their pet co-occupy their domicile, in accordance with this Pet Policy and any Additional Rules and Plans.

Each Member who does not ordinarily live with any other Member may bring up to one (1) household pet. Each group of Members who ordinarily live together may bring up to two (2) household pets per two (2) Adult Members.

Only well-behaved, non-barkative, obedient, "toilet" trained, cleanly groomed and supervised pets that are not a nuisance will be allowed inside the shelter facility.

No pets will be allowed within the facility that are determined to be a nuisance (especially dogs that are excessive barkers), vicious, dangerous, or aggressive.

Most breeds are welcome, specifically those that are deemed appropriate for assistance work or therapeutic services.

All pets will be treated for fleas and ticks prior to access into the facility.

All pet vaccinations must be up to date. The owner will be required to provide a copy of the current vaccination records yearly and prior to access.

The pet owner must provide a one-year supply of pet food and kitty litter for each of his/her respective pets to be stored in the facility. Details on food requirements will be provided to concerned members by the Shelter Coordinators.

Owners will be responsible for the care and maintenance of their pet during their stay in the shelter, including, most importantly, grooming and cleaning on a regular basis to ensure the lowest allergen levels possible. This condition should also apply to the care of the pet prior to entering the shelter.

Any time the pet is outside of the domicile assigned to the Member that brought the pet, they shall be placed on a hand-held leash, held off the ground on a lap, in someone's arms or placed in one of the shelter kennels in the pet living quarters.

Eco-Community Shelter[®] Application

It is better to have a secured survival plan and not need it, than to need a secured survival plan and not have it.

If any Member is allergic to the pet, the pet shall be confined at all times to the domicile assigned to the Member that brought it. In addition, if requested by any other Community Member for any reason, the Member accompanying the pet shall immediately bring the pet to the domicile assigned to the Member that brought it.

Each Member shall immediately clean up after their own pet, shall be liable for any damage to other members or property caused by such pet, and shall indemnify and hold harmless the Association and all Members against any and all loss, cost or liability, including attorney's fees, arising out of claims related to such pet.

During Emergency Conditions, the Shelter Coordinator is empowered to euthanize a pet found to be a nuisance.

In the most extreme cases, pets that are determined by the Shelter Coordinator to be a threat or nuisance to the safety and well-being of the other members of the community will be euthanized.

The policy is subject to change without notice

How Are Community Jobs Selected

Each applicant advises the Shelter Association Management Board of their professional skills and knowledge at the time they filled out the application for acceptance. This helps the Association understand their ability to contribute to the community. During a state of emergency and shelter activation and lockdown, the shelter coordinator will account for all members in the community, at this point community member' skills will then be reviewed to determine the best mix of people for each community job. This is also based on their priority of applying to Eco-Community Shelter® – first come first serve. The objective is to have as much diversity as possible within the community. We don't want all doctors and no plumbers or electricians, which could be a real disaster.

A tremendous benefit to an enclosed shelter of this scale is the opportunity for a true community of people with diverse skills and abilities, versus the long-term lonely existence of a small family, or group in a private backyard shelter, that may feel and look like a small jail.

Employees

Due to the prohibitive costs of staffing the community shelter facility, the actual community members perform all operational duties. Each member is assigned an ongoing responsibility, based on their skills, expertise and ability. From medical, to security operations, electrical, plumbing, mechanical repair, maintenance, meal preparation, education, farming, care of livestock, exercise, communications, etc. The collective abilities and talents will help assure the anticipated, long-term, underground survival of the Shelter Community. But until such declared emergency, a permanent coordinator/caretaker will live near the site to provide basic maintenance and control of member access.

During the application process a Risk Management Team will evaluate each applicant for determination and candidacy of membership. The Risk Management Team evaluates the actual member profile to determine those individuals who may best contribute to the shelter community for the greatest chance of long-term survival of the entire group. Each candidate is reviewed based upon a number of criteria and psychographic information, including: their profession, education, expertise, skills, background checks, benefit to the community, proximate location, current health and family size. The Risk Management Team then makes a recommendation to the Shelter Association Management Board which then selects candidates based on the recommendations and extends them an invitation to purchase a membership in the community shelter. Those candidates are then provided the Eco-Community Shelter® package of legal documents, and if mutually agreed upon, an escrow will be opened, and then proceed to purchase their membership in the shelter. Once the prospective member has completed their purchase of the membership in the community shelter, they become a community member.

Upon full payment, new community members are assigned a membership number according to the number of family members listed in their paid group and mailed keys with a membership certificate. Because the location of the shelter is kept secret for security reasons listed, upon request the coordinator will mail several pictures of the community facility and domicile unit the member is to occupy.

It is better to have a secured survival plan and not need it, than to need a secured survival plan and not have it.

Annually, each community member is invited for a weekend retreat to meet fellow community members and train for the operation of the shelter. This group meeting allows members to get to know each other, as well as plan for their respective duties and responsibilities for any potential use of the shelter. Members are encouraged to expand their skill set by actively learning any other subjects they feel may be of use for the community in the case of a catastrophic event.

A list of subject skills needed for the community's survival:

Eco-Community Shelter® will effectively be a modern day Noah's Ark, while providing it's members with an "assurance of survival". Eco-Community Shelter® is one solution for the continuance of life, providing a "biosphere" to survive an Earth-devastating catastrophe. Without an equivalent fully equipped, supplied, virtually impenetrable and professionally staffed underground shelter, survival from most unpredictable and disastrous global scenarios is very slim.

Eco-Community Shelter® Application

It is better to have a secured survival plan and not need it, than to need a secured survival plan and not have it.

Eco-Community Shelter® Is Priced As Affordable As Possible

Eco-Community Shelter® is truly the most affordable way for you to secure membership and space for yourself and loved ones in a real underground shelter built to withstand any envisioned catastrophe. Through our unique construction, outfitting and stocking each respective applicant has only to purchase a membership into the community.

Eco-Community Shelter® provides an affordable solution to families that would otherwise not be able to rely on a real, all-risk shelter, built to provide a minimum of one year of survival before needing to return to the surface after the worst is over.

The Shelter Association Management Board selects the best candidates for the Shelter Community from the current pool of applications. If approved as a community member, you will then be offered the opportunity to purchase a membership in the Eco-Community Shelter®.

Community Facility Cost

The estimated replacement cost of Eco-Community Shelter® is approximately $47 million dollars. Other than the elite, few people can afford their own hardened blast proof shelter of this magnitude. To make the access and membership of this community shelter affordable to most middle-class families. Eco-Community Shelter®, offers each domicile within the facility fractionally to as many applicants as the shelter may comfortably accommodate. Similar to a typical "country club membership model", members of the shelter receive a membership card as members in the nonprofit owners' association.

Each membership can be sold, willed, gifted or donated subject to the association rules and bylaws and the approval of the proposed successor-in-interest.

The membership structure complies with local laws and regulations. Your membership is secured by the undivided memberships in the specific association that owns the shelter and the property it is located on, limited to the specific number of designated members for the shelter.

The purchase of memberships in Eco-Community Shelter® should be based solely upon the purpose and use of the shelter as a catastrophic survival shelter, in the case of a life-threatening emergency or catastrophe, and not for any potential income, profit, investment value or future appreciation. No federal or state agency has made any recommendation or endorsement of the Eco-Community Shelter® or the memberships therein, and the sale of the memberships are not registered or approved by any government agency. Memberships may have possible difficulties for resale due to the limited market potential, shelter rules, regulations, association bylaws and usage restrictions. The usage of the shelter is on a non-exclusive basis without any exclusively demised areas.

Domiciles on Eco-Community Shelter® property are not considered a timeshare, nor is it coupled with any form of periodic or interval use, with any form of a circulating or exclusive right of possession.

Eco-Community Shelter® Application

It is better to have a secured survival plan and not need it, than to need a secured survival plan and not have it.

Once the shelter community is formed, the respective(s) are able to visit other members during Meet & Greet events, or when necessary, with or without permission of the shelter Coordinator; however, they cannot otherwise stay in the shelter other than during an emergency or post-catastrophic event.

The community group is encouraged to meet fellow members and get to know each other. Meet & Greet events are coordinated subject to ample interest and availability for orientation, operational training and planning for the unique pre and post event aspects of the shelter. This group meeting allows everyone to get to know each other, as well as determine and plan for their respective duties and team responsibilities for any potential use or activation of the shelter. Members are encouraged to become familiar with the operations of the community, the surroundings, the area resources, and the various routes to travel, ingress and egress and security.

The cost of each membership in the community shelter is currently priced at $30,000 per adult. Children currently under age 12 priced at $6,000, teenagers currently under age 17 priced at $12,000 and $1,500 for each household pet (subject to cats, dogs and birds only). These prices are for one membership for each family member in the turnkey community shelter, complete with a one-year supply of food, water, medical and hygienic supplies, for all members, including furnishings, equipment, fixtures, security systems, and more.

Eco-Community Shelter® cannot stock enough supply of food and supplies to last forever, as that would drive up the cost of ownership for each member, thereby making it unaffordable, however with the addition of aquaponic gardens and a small stock of conditioned farm animals within the shelter, food management, and passive energy systems, the duration of shelter use may be significantly extended. Thereafter, or sooner, community members may begin to return to the surface, once the danger has passed. Members may continue to live inside their domicile and on the surface for as long as they wish, making the facility their home base as may be necessary.

Eco-Community Shelter® will only offer a predetermined number of memberships based upon the number of domiciles scheduled for the facility. Once that amount has been determined it may never be changed, this assures that each member will have a fixed membership in their respective domicile that cannot be diluted thereafter.

Each community member will also pay their proportionate share of the ongoing costs of the respective shelter. A key benefit to the shelter facility is the sharing of costs by all community members. These ongoing costs are considered to be minimal, because the facility is fully stocked and sealed in its ready condition. The ongoing costs will include: property insurance and taxes, maintenance, utilities and the cost of a permanent coordinator/caretaker who will live near the site, to provide basic maintenance, security, and control of owners' access. A full operating expense budget is provided to each perspective member during the escrow process. When shared equally, the monthly cost expense per member family group is estimated to be around $20 to $40, depending primarily on the facility insurance and local property tax assessed against the property. Only actual expenses are passed through to the members, without markup by the Shelter Association Management Board.

Buying Process

Eco-Community Shelter® has been accepting membership applications through word of mouth, a current community member shares the proposed shelter idea to a prospective member. Selected candidates then contact the Shelter Association Management Board where they will be mailed an application and information brochure, once the prospective member fills out the application and mails it back to the Shelter Association Management Board, it is reviewed and then a letter for and interview is sent, the prospective member can then ask any related questions they may have about Eco-Community Shelter®.

Once a prospective member is selected to become a community member, they will be extended an invitation to purchase a membership in the community shelter. Candidates will then be mailed a package of legal documents and pictures of the proposed domicile they will be inhabiting for them to review, an escrow will be opened, and the prospective member will proceed to purchase their membership in the shelter. At that time, they need to fund their escrow account with the full amount of their purchase. Those members are then provided a reservation agreement to secure their space in the shelter. The reservation agreement is non-binding and may be cancelled any time within 21-days of the grace period prior to the actual completion of the purchase and sale agreements that will follow each member. The funds remain in trust with the escrow holder until 21 days.

After the 21-day grace period, all escrows are closed and Eco-Community Shelter® receives its payments. At no time during the escrow process are the buyer’s funds at risk. This is a straight-forward safe and secured transaction.

What happens if you move?

If you ever move, and your home is sold, you will not get any extra market value for a backyard shelter. You cannot take it with you, and you will have lost your entire 'investment'. Eco-Community Shelter® will always be available for you, even if you move to a different area, you never lose your investment and it will always have a market value should you wish to later sale it.

Community Governance

Shelter coordinators will provide ongoing management and security oversight to the community shelter, following a comprehensive set of Bylaws, Rules and Regulations, a Code of Conduct, and Operating Procedures.

Hierarchy

The Eco-Community Shelter® is managed by its coordinator, with each community member receiving a voting membership. The Shelter Association Management Board establishes the community and the Bylaws, Rules and Regulations, Operating Budgets, the Emergency Response Plan, and all operational agreements. A shelter coordinator has been appointed, and a number of Operational Team Leaders based on each member's skills and expertise.

Eco-Community Team Leaders will provide support management to the shelter coordinator. During Emergency Conditions, every willing and able adult member that wishes to serve on a Team will do so, with participation rotating. It is the intent of this facility to allow all members the opportunity to serve, with equal responsibility for the neutral and mutual benefit of all other members.

The Shelter Coordinator oversees the day-to-day operation of the shelter and directs, as necessary, the Operational Teams (including the Emergency Response and Security Teams), acting as an executive officer of the Management Board. Team Leaders and Community Committees are appointed by the Shelter Coordinator and Management Board based on each Member's professional skills and abilities. Ready, willing and able Members may apply to serve on, or resign from, an Operation Team at any time. Operational Teams include:

- Emergency Response Team
- Security Team
- Medical Team
- Livestock Care and Management Team
- Aquaponics/hydroponic Management Team
- Shelter Cleaning and Maintenance Team
- Education of Children and Management Team
- Supplies Distribution and Management Team
- Shelter Events and Management Team

The collective abilities and talents will help assure the anticipated, long-term survival of each community member.

The complete management and procedural package is designed for the greatest protection of lives and the shelter property through effective use of the members and their collective resources. Since an emergency may be sudden and without warning, these procedures are designed to be flexible in order to accommodate contingencies of various types of magnitudes. As and when necessary, procedures and rules can be changed with either a simple majority vote, or in certain cases, the vote of all members.

Eco-Community Shelter® Application

It is better to have a secured survival plan and not need it, than to need a secured survival plan and not have it.

No personal rights are given up by the members within the Eco-Community Shelter®. The Bylaws, Rules and Regulations, and the Code of Conduct closely follows the U.S. Constitution, with the basic tenet that, no member shall cause harm, or be allowed to be a threat to another member.

As part of each members due diligence, they are provided a complete set of these documents for their review and approval during the contingent 21-day grace period of their escrow process.

Community Use Outside of Emergencies

Community members may access the facility shelter in the event of imminent emergency, catastrophe, or life-threatening disaster, requiring shelter for survival.

With the understanding, the facility may only be used for survival protection in life-threatening or emergency situations. Community members cannot stay overnight in the shelter unless an emergency or catastrophic event is imminent or has already occurred. The Eco-Community Shelter® is not a second-home, resort, hotel, or recreational facility, nor is the property zoned for multi-family housing.

The annual weekend retreats allow members to get to know each other, as well as plan for their respective duties and responsibilities for any potential use of the community shelter. On these occasions members are encouraged to become familiar with the operation of the community, the surroundings and the best routes to get there.

Over a person's lifetime they may travel to the community shelter on many emergency occasions with what may later be determined as a false alarm. Any consumption of supplies or food within the facility must be immediately replaced to assure 100% readiness for a true future event.

The Eco-Community Shelter® rules & regulations provided during the purchase process outline this policy in greater detail, as well as a comprehensive definition of what constitutes an emergency.

Eco-Community Shelter® Application

Eco-Community Shelter has completed construction of a private network of hardened underground beehive-like survival shelters, built and stocked to withstand virtually any threat or catastrophe, autonomously for a minimum of one year. The Community Shelter is accessible only to its actual community members. Membership of Eco-Community space is priced well below the cost of building your own comparable shelter fully stocked with security.

Eco-Community Members each have a right to access and use their community domicile during a time of emergency - for as long as they own a membership, subject to the rules, regulations and bylaws of the association. At any time, preceding an anticipated catastrophe, disaster, or even widespread social anarchy, the members may arrive at the designated location, enter and begin the shelter operations. Everything is turnkey within the community shelter.

Eco-Community Shelter Association Management Board selects the best candidates for membership from the current pool of applications mailed in (applications are only being accepted via snail mail). The Risk Management Team first looks for those individuals who may best contribute to Eco-Community, providing the greatest chance of long-term survival of the entire group. Each member candidate is reviewed based on a number of criteria.

The collective abilities and skills of like-minded members help assure the long-term survival and well-being in a post-apocalyptic world. By comparison, a small backyard shelter would be a lonely existence, virtually impossible to defend and survive in.

As member candidates are approved, they are provided a reservation agreement to reserve their space in Eco-Community.

The land site was chosen based on many factors, including proximity to a major population base, ability to mitigate the forces of a distant nuclear blast, biological terrorism, a mega-tsunami, earthquakes and volcanoes, and the multitude of other threats, while providing for defensible security, access to deep underground water tank sources and the chance to utilize natural resources upon returning to the surface.

Exact Eco-Community Shelter® location is known only to community members. Disclosures will be released upon membership approval and full payment of the community space.

The Membership Application (below) provides us with basic information on who you are, your contact information, the size of your family, your combined skill sets or expertise, and insight regarding why you are seeking Dragonfly Shelter solution.

Once your application is submitted, The Risk Management Team will evaluate it and determine if you are a good candidate for membership. If your application passes this initial review, you will be notified by mail/phone that your application for membership has been assigned to a Shelter Association Management Board member. If your membership is declined you will also be notified. Please watch your mail.

A Shelter Association Management Board member will then contact you by email and request to schedule a convenient time that you may privately talk by phone or Skype. It is important that you respond to their email in a timely manner and follow-thru on this step for final membership approval.

During that conversation the coordinator will answer all of your immediate questions about Eco-Community Shelter® and how it may be able to accommodate you and your family in an emergency situation. You will find this conversation to be very informative, welcoming and supportive.

If you are recommended by the coordinator after the interview, you will be offered the opportunity to purchase a membership in the Eco-Community.

Please take a moment to complete this application. We look forward to providing you with an Eco-Community Shelter® Life-assurance solution today.
